The role of a Surveillance Security Guard

What matters most in a role like this is your acuity and ability to capture every detail while you monitor a series of screens and observe the activity around the site. Your observation skills, your attention to detail and your ability to stay vigilant are essential to your success.

As a surveillance security guard, you will play an important role in identifying potential security issues before they get worse. You will monitor surveillance systems, observe activities, identify unusual or suspicious behaviours, and respond or report appropriately as needed.

You can work in a variety of environments, including security operations centres, call centres, construction sites, parking lots, door houses and other customer locations.

If you are observant, detail-oriented, reliable and able to stay focused in a fast-paced environment, this role provides you with the opportunity to put these skills to work while helping to maintain a safe environment.
